HONGRONG, AUGUST 10TH, 1871.

For some inexplicable reason, whenever any matter has to be done in connection with the Chipese, it seems an established rule that an irregularity shall creep into it. moment an affair is in the faintest way connected with the natives, an idea appears to prevail that it must be trested in a totally different way to all ordinary matters. The reason for this it would perhaps be difficult to fathom, but of the fact, there can scarcely be any doubt. Perhaps it is to be accounted for to some extant by the habit which fear is far too prevalent of consulting the natives, or rather to speak more accurately, of adopting the native opinion, upon a large number of matters upon which foreigners would be far better able to judge by their own common sense. However this may be; attention cannot too urgently be called to the tendency to adopt exceptional action in regard to Chinese matters; and we do not, therefore, hesitate to again raise a voice upon notification regarding the "Shan-sin-fan," and a subject on which we commented some time age, and to which attention has been once more called of late. We allude to the peculiar sheet which is issued in Chinese by the Government, or a portion of the Government. and is known to Europeans as the Chinese edition of the Government Gazette. The his escape from the Station on account of the that any remarks which the Shareholders de. The police, as and the native public are, therefore, justified | noted in the report of the case, were obliged in believing that it is what it purports to be. that is, a translation of the Gazette issued every week by the Government. But it is nothing of the kind. Many notifications which appear in the English edition are not ly by the stones, which were in free use among pired, refer to any part of them in any remarks at less than 20 cents a picul anywhere siee, reproduced in the Chinese. This is no very the growd, and would unquestionably have been which be had to make; but the minutes could and there could be no grounds to say that it serious omission, because a large number of such notifications refer to matters in which stable, who saw what had taken place, and who the natives are not concerned, and which they resented the man from the water. This irregularity has since been put right, and general notifications have now to be issued by the Colonial-SECRETARY, or the Governor, so that the Government at least know what is going on. But this cannot be held to be sufficient. The public at large ought to know what notifications are issued to the Chinese; and the system at present adopted is eminently calculated tosmislead them. Thus, the community is kept in darkness, except, as above stated, something occur to unearth one or other of these notifications. It works serious loss of time not only to the officers, but also to the public, whose formation naturally comes from them. Mr. Alexander prominently and publicly complained of the practice a very short time ago. reason can be assigned for it save neglect on the part of the solicitors, and perhaps some laxity of discipline shown by the Chief-Justice. How often line it been the case that a conferonce of judge and counsel in Chambers has resulted in a spaumodic adjournment to the Court-room, where with five minutes previous warning to the officers some case of vast public interest has been passed quietly through one of its essentially public stages ? That is one side of the evil, and the other is the opposite of it, that which concurred yesterday. A little firmness on the part of the Chief Justice would probably put an end, once for all, to the pernicious and discourtsous practice.

GUMPACH V. HART.

The appeal case " Hart v. Von Gumpach came on for hearing in the Privy Council, before Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish. Sir Joseph Napier, Sir William Covill, and Sir Laurence Peel. Sir Roundell Palmer, who appeared for Mr. Hart, moved for leave to appeal to Her Majesty's Council against the order and decision of the Supreme Court of Shanghai upon the demurrer to the defendant's pleas, delivered 29th March last. In the course of the argument it transpired that both Mr. Hert and Mr. Gumpach are English anhiects, the latter having been naturalised. Mr. Myburgh, on behalf of Mr. Gumpach, opposed Sir Roundell Palmer, as he explained, with " great reluctance." which, however, Lord Justice James requested him to law uside. Mr. Myburgh, however, did not piess the point after some observations Colville Lord Justice James said the whole reourd must be brought up again, and that the coats of the application would be coats in the cause. The Empress Eugenie, it is reported, is in THE HOUSE, No. 6, on Pedder's Hill; and treaty for the sale of her diamonds, valued at £320,000. Mrs. Eddy, of Lincoln, caught her better balf kissing the servant girl. The doctor was seat for. He says he can patch up Mr. Eddy's face, but he'll always be baldheaded.

At Richmond, the Earl of Aylesford, whose address on the charge-sheet was " Long's Hotel, New Bond-street," was fined 40s, and costs for disorderly conduct, in having, along with others, thrown flour over several persons whom they passed in returning from Hampton Races. A descon in Illinois objected to the organ purchased by his church, and when called upon to close the service with prayer, said, " Call on the machine! If it can sing the glory of God, it can pray too. Oall on the machine?" While esting at a club supper at Birmingham, a tailor named Richardson was observed to go black in the face, a piece of meat having got fast in his throat. He was taken to the hospital, but died on the way.

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY

WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An ARGLO-CHIMESE DICTIONARY, by the Rev. W. LOBSOHEID, published Press Office, Hongkong.

TAOM scope and practical nervice this Work stands unrivalled. All toe new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are FIHE 4 1 British Barque given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to to be despatched in about a week, has room for nake the Chinese and English type correspond a few Tone of Cargo.

n the size of body, thereby effecting a west For Freight, app previously attained, and dispensing with those yast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reforence to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few deed of them are perfectly acquainted. Next year the Delicate Investigation took pinco. to the great discredit of the Whig Ministry. and in which it was vory much to be lamented. that Romilly's official position compelled him to take a part-the proceeding being an inquiry, behind the Princesis back, whether or not she had been guilty of high treason. Having an invitation to dine at Carlton-bouse, ventured to avoid going by leaving home for a day or two, and this made my declining to be presented at Kensington the more natural. was not till late in 1809 that Dudley and Sir William Drummond, who were constantly there, persuaded me to go as to a house where agreeable society was always assembled. Canning was constantly there, and I had no other opportunity of seeing him, which I the rather wished, as we had had some differences on the Orders in Council at the time when I was counsel for the commercial interests. His friend Charles Ellis (afterwards Lord Scaford) and Granville Leveson (afterwards Lord Granville) also frequented the Princess's society. A friend whom I greatly esteemed, Lady Charlotte Lindsay, and her mister, Lady Glenbervie, were among ber ladies, both, like all the North family, persons equally agreeable and diever; so that without taking any part at all in the controversy. I went there as Rogers, Luttrell, and others did, whom the Princess liked extremely to have about her. Canning I often met there: Perceval and Eldon never; but ebe always spoke of them with great kindness, only she called Eldon "old Baggs," as all the royal family did, which once caused a droll mistake, when the Regent said, "Send for old Bagge," and the page in waiting summoned Mr. Banks, who came in court-dress, and was kept waiting in the autochamber till the mistake was discovered, which, it is said, he did not soon if ever forgive. The conversation at Kensington was quite free from any troublesome restraint of stiquette, but always with the respect, both in form and substance, due to royalty.-The Life and Times of Henry Lord Brougham, written by honeoff.
